

In the Abstract

Please amend the abstract to read as shown below:

A method, media of and system for flexibly integrating organization related data, information, knowledge and systems into a market value matrix format and using said data to develop a market value matrix to support the analysis, management, measurement and optimization one or more aspects of organization risk, return and value.